

Dr. Uswatte's research has been funded by the US Department of Veterans Affairs, National Institute on Disability and Rehabilitation Research, National Institutes of Health, James S. McDonnell Foundation, American Heart Association, and Positive Psychology Network. He received the Mitchell Rosenthal Early Career Research Award from the Division of Rehabilitation Psychology of the American Psychological Association (APA) in 2008, was elected President of that division in 2013, and received the Roger Barker Distinguished Research Contribution Award from the same division in 2020. He was made an APA Fellow in 2011.

His area of clinical specialization is rehabilitation psychology.

Dr. Uswatte's teaching interests include research methods, statistics, the psychology of strengths and virtues (positive psychology), and the psychology of social inequality.